"TURN your thoughts on the higher things of life," advises Rockefeller. You can't do otherwise, "Brother Rocky," for the "higher things of life" at the present sitting are the necessities of life. Easy enough to turn to them, but rather tough on us poor devils who are compelled to turn away from them.

"WILL there be any tariff legislation the present session of Congress?" was asked John Sharpe Williams the other day. His reply was to the point, viz: "Of course not. Talk of that sort reminds me of the man who bought a bottle of hair restorer from a bald-headed barber. There will be no tariff legislation while Republicans are in power."

You can begin to hear talk of "Santa Claus," and, in fact, Christmas is almost upon us. The reports of abundant crops throughout the county means a liberal opening of purse strings for Christmas spending. Railroads are already taxed to their capacity in handling the holiday purchases of merchants, and manufacturers in all lines of trade are working double force to meet the demand. Paris merchants have made heavy purchases and the holiday stocks will be the largest ever shown here. The goods are arriving daily and when all opened will make a magnificent display.

THE report that Judge James E. Cantrill, of the Court of Appeals, would take his seat on the bench last week was a mistake, for his son, State Senator J. Campbell Cantrill, now says his father may be able to take his seat after January 1. While we are an admirer and friend of Judge Cantrill, yet we feel that he is not only doing himself an injustice, but he is doing the Democratic party an injustice by not resigning. It has been over a year since he was elected to fill this place and he has never been able to do any of the work. Another Judge is needed on the bench badly, and for Judge Cantrill to be drawing $5,000 a year and to be unable to do any of the work is not right, and right should prevail in the Democratic ranks. The longer this matter is put off, the more Republican campaign material you are furnishing. If Judge Cantrill was a poor man, we doubt that we would comment on this, but he is a rich man and there can be no excuse offered on this line. We love this noble old Democrat and would rather see him on the Court of Appeals bench than any other man in Kentucky, but he has been stricken with an incurable disease, as every one knows, and it is a duty he owes himself and his party to resign.

We talk much about our natural resources, and we invite all the world to come and live with us because we have good air and good water and good soil and good timber and coal and iron under the ground—in other words, because God has been generous to the land. Well, the truth is, the land was really richer when the Indians held it than it is now; and the water was just as good, the air just as pure, and there were more forests and more iron and coal than there are now.

While natural resources count for much, the community where the people are trained to profitable industry is the community to which other men will go to live, and they will go from all parts of the world. After the first pioneer settlements are made, it is trained men that attract men rather than natural resources. The right training of men is a better thing than the bounty of nature itself. Nature alone never made prosperous States.

We all want Kentucky developed, but why not educate our people for the purpose, and let the wealth of the State go to Kentuckians? At present, some of the richest portions of the State are passing into the hands of Northern and Eastern capitalists, to be developed by educated men from other States, while the hardest of the work will be done by ignorant Kentucky citizens as day laborers.

Let our motto ever be "Kentucky for Kentuckians," and let's make it possible by educating the next generation according to the demands of the age.
